'WAR TO FINISH' GERMAN SLOGAN SINCE ADDRESS

Chancellor, Now Sure of Ground at Home, Calls For Complete Victory

Copenhagen, May 19.—Germany is no longer "playing possum," letting hints creep out through her censorship showing alleged popular waves for peace and seeking to lull her enemies into the belief she is weakening. On the contrary, it is war, uncompromising and bitter, and Americans here believe this new development shows the necessity for throwing all America's weight immediately into the fray.

The Americans and Allies here regard Hitler's speech as that of a leader in a small sized brush with antagonistic political elements. They hold he would never have made so curt an address if he were not sure of his grip. They hold the Chancellor has flatteringly reflected the feelings of the German people, the propaganda department that Germany is ready to quit. They hope Hitler's unequivocal stand for continuation of the war will eradicate that element in America which has counseled passive participation in the war in the hope that Germany is getting ready for a compromise.

Well informed officials here interpret the almost universal approval of Hitler's speech, as voiced in German newspapers, as an indication that the Chancellor has survived the political crisis in his career.

They are not by any means sure there ever was a serious political crisis threatening Hitler's political head; that it may have been a very clever German propaganda move to spread authenticated reports of internal dissensions.

Russian Socialists have already apparently taken great stock in these German rumors of public unrest, and have announced they are working for peace through a "revolution" in Germany.

To-day it appeared that Hitler was as strong as a bull, and that he would retain his strength unless Germany's U-Boat campaign fails or there is some other stroke against the Central Powers.

Popular optimism for victory in Germany has overwhelmed the Radicals and their dissatisfaction over failure of the Government immediately to institute reforms.

Must Write First If
You Want to See Busy
Washington Collector

The time of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington is so fully occupied that any person desiring a hearing should write him at least 10 days in advance of the time they wish to be heard, stating the reason for desiring the hearing. The commissioner cannot insure an audience either in person or through any of his chiefs or deputies to parties who come to Washington without first having made an appointment.

It has been found that so many seeking a hearing wish to be heard on cases similar to others that have already been ruled upon, people who write to ask for a hearing are asked to send a brief setting forth the arguments and contentions they wish to present.

MRS. MCADOO TO HEAD WOMAN'S LOAN COMMITTEE

Patriotic Service in Aiding Sale of Liberty Loan Securities.

Chicago, May 19.—Plans for completing the organization of the women's Liberty loan committee designed to give the women of America an opportunity for patriotic service in aiding in the sale and distribution of the securities were announced here yesterday.

Mrs. William G. McAdoo will act as chairman of the committee. The committee issued an appeal to the women of the country yesterday which read in part as follows: "Women cannot fight. The object of this committee is to urge upon women the importance of seizing the opportunity to help equip and maintain our army and navy and to offer substantial aid to our allies. The women of Europe are exhausted. The women of the United States, by self denial and devotion, must prove themselves worthy to share this honorable service of upholding these ideals of democracy for which men are giving up their lives."

The plan is to organize the women of the country by states. Hundreds of speakers will tour the country this summer in behalf of the movement.

Supply Committee
Takes Up Problem
Of Obtaining Jars

The Connecticut Committee of Food Supply has taken up the matter of glass fruit jars for canning and, in co-operation with the Massachusetts Committee of Food Conservation, is making a determined effort to keep these two states supplied with jars. The following notice addressed to jobbers and dealers in such jars was given out today at the headquarters of the Connecticut Committee of Food Supply.

"Owing to the great increase in planting vegetables for canning, we anticipate that the demand for glass jars and containers will be far above the average this year.

"The available supply of glass fruit jars in Connecticut is low. This is due to freight embargoes, congestion of traffic and other causes.

"The Connecticut Committee of Food Supply co-operating with the Massachusetts Committee of Food Conservation is making a determined effort to keep Connecticut and Massachusetts supplied with glass fruit jars as the demand arises during the canning season.

"To this end we request jobbers and dealers in this product to communicate with John T. Roberts, Care Committee of Food Supply, Hartford, Conn., if they are not getting shipments in sufficient quantities to meet their requirements.

"This committee offers its services to every jobber and dealer, in the effort to facilitate transit of these goods.

"Blanks may be had at the committee's rooms, No. 38 Pearl street, Hartford, or will be mailed on request, to such as desire co-operation.

These blanks must be properly filled out in order that the committee may efficiently and expeditiously assist you along the lines mentioned. The committee urges the desirability of an immediate reply from those interested.

PUBLIC OPINION
To the Editor of The Farmer, Sir:

I noticed in your paper recently a letter from an individual who criticized the farm loan arrangement put into effect through the Fairfield County Association's Agricultural Committee. Judging from the text of the letter, the writer of it had not the faintest conception of what he was talking about. Practically every statement he made was wrong, and naturally, the conclusions which he drew from his own unfounded assumptions were incorrect.

Before going further let me state that I borrowed money under the arrangement outlined by the agricultural committee and found the process perfectly simple and practicable. A person who objects to such requirements as these has no right to ask for a loan, especially for a loan from a bank.

Letters from masters of grange and directors of farm bureaus are not required, but merely suggested. My own letters, which served as a perfectly satisfactory introduction, were not from any grange or farm bureau man, but from the most reputable citizen of Bridgeport who simply stated that they considered me a good moral risk.

As for the "red tape" which the critic described, it took me only five minutes of actual time to fulfill the necessary requirements at the bank, requirements which, as I understand it, are not a matter of choice but of necessity, under national banking laws.

Incidentally let me add that I am a tenant farmer. I notice that the ready letter-writer said that no provisions had been made for tenant farmers.

Finally let me say that I have seen a great deal of talk about what New Zealand does and what Canada does. I never knew a bit of progress to be made anywhere but that some chronic grouches, who never contributed one iota of progress to the world, rose to his feet and growled that it wasn't as good as something that had been done somewhere else. The world draws no progress from such malcontents. I for one wish to express my appreciation that Fairfield county, through the co-operation of its mobilization committee and bankers, has taken the lead in America in extending easy credit to reputable farmers, regardless of who has taken the lead in Australia or New Zealand or on the planet Mars.

One ounce of achievement like this is worth ten thousand tons of kicking, scoffing and cavilling. I am in touch with other farmers about the county and from reports that I hear, they are mightily pleased with the arrangement and are taking advantage of it to plant increased crops.

Yours very truly,
WILLIAM F. DORSEY,
(A member of the Bridgeport Vegetable Growers' Association.)
